

Sandy News.

Friday, February 23, 1913.

Grant Lilly has sold the Estill Tribune to J. R. White.

President-elect Wilson announces that the extra session of Congress will be called for April 1.

Gov. McCreary and several members of his staff will attend the inauguration of President Wilson.

Morgan county comes along with a candidate for State Senator in the person of Charles D. Arnett, who is an aspirant for the Democratic nomination.

President-elect Wilson is on his last week as Governor of New Jersey. His resignation will be handed to the Secretary of State of N. J. to become effective next Saturday.

The United States Senate will be Democratic by a very slender majority after next Monday. If the majority will only pull together it has the power to accomplish just what a large majority could.

The West Virginia Legislature has elected Judge Nathan B. Goff United States Senator to succeed Clarence A. Watson. The Republican candidates were too bitter toward each other to agree on one of their number, so a compromise was made on Judge Goff, who was not a candidate. He will accept, however, which necessitates resigning a United States Judgeship. Goff is 71 years old.

Judge S. Wilbur Hager, formerly Treasurer and Auditor of the State of Kentucky, is an applicant for collector of Internal Revenue in the Owensboro district and should be able to land the job. He was the leader of the Woodrow Wilson organization in Kentucky during the campaign for the presidential nomination. Judge Hager is a native of Sandan and we are proud of him. He is now publishing a good daily newspaper at Owensboro.

Dr. Friedman, the German physician who claims to have discovered a cure for consumption, has arrived in New York and delivered some of his remedy into the hands of Government officials. He will first treat a son-in-law of a wealthy New York banker who induced Dr. Friedman to come to this country. The results will be watched with great interest. If Friedman has conquered the worst enemy of the race he will be one of the world's most famous men.

The inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States will take place next Tuesday. It has been twenty years since a Democrat was induced into that high office and the affair next Tuesday will be largely attended. The inaugural ball was called off by Mr. Wilson, this breaking an old custom. The cabinet has not yet been announced. It seems to be generally accepted that Bryan will have the highest place, that of Secretary of State. An extra session of Congress will be called to convene April 1st to consider tariff revision and currency reform.

It is almost time for the farmers of the Big Sandy Valley to begin work on the 1913 crop. They should get out of the rut. Conditions have changed rapidly, almost suddenly, in this part of the State. There is now a ready cash market for all products usually grown by "truck farmers." Adjust yourselves to the new conditions and reap a rich harvest. Dairying also offers our farmers an excellent field for profit. The milking towns will buy all the dairy and truck products we can furnish. Learning how to increase the yield of corn is a good thing, but this is only one of a number of products to which the Big Sandy farmer should be devoting his energy.

Representative William J. Fields is one of those Democrats who has no sympathy with efforts that are being made to arouse the farmers of the country against the coming Democratic revision of the tariff. Mr. Fields represents an agricultural district, and he believes that the tariff on the products of the farm in this country is of absolutely no benefit to the farmer, and is not afraid to say so.

In an interview given to the Courier-Journal, Mr. Fields exposed the shopworn argument of the Republicans that the protective tariff is of benefit first of all to the farmer, and he intimates strongly that the farmers of the country should not stand in the way of a reduction in the cost of their clothing and farm implements by asking for a retention of a tariff on their own products which is useless to them.

"I favor a general reduction of the tariff," said Mr. Fields. "First, because the country for the last four years has been demanding such action; and, second, because I am not a protectionist, but believe in the tariff being reduced to a revenue basis. I am aware that the advocates of a protective tariff contend that the American manufacturer needs it, but when I consider that we are, to a great extent, an exporting nation; that American manufacturers ship their goods to the free markets of the world and sell them there in competition with foreign-made goods for less prices than they sell them to the American consumer, I fail to understand why they need their home markets protected against these foreign-made goods with which they can compete in foreign markets."

In the interview, of which the foregoing is only a small part, Mr. Fields shows up high tariff in all its inequities and inconsistencies.

He exposes the time-worn arguments of protectionists, and demonstrates conclusively that the farmer pays for the excessive duty.

The interview has been widely copied into the press of the country and has attracted much attention.

Mr. Fields is making an admirable Representative and reflects credit both upon himself and the Ninth Congressional District.

Greatest Vote Offer of Contest Now On

ter is called to our attention. However, we must have some sort of a report this week from every candidate in the race. If you have no subscriptions to turn in but want to continue in the race, then let us hear from you anyway. There are 19 prizes in the big list and every candidate has a good opportunity to win one of them.

If there has been any mistake in the count of any contestants' votes up to the present date, the matter must be called to the attention of the contest manager before next Wednesday night. Otherwise the standing as published today, must be taken as correct.

About New Subscriptions.

When you get a subscription, be sure and find out whether it is old or new and mark it so on the part of the receipt which you turn into the office with your remittance. Otherwise, we are liable to be delayed in getting the paper started. Also be sure to get the address correct.

Where a subscription is changed from one member of the family to another, it is not considered a new subscription and votes will be issued on it as if it were an old subscription.

Thousands of Votes Polled.

Thousands and thousands of votes have been polled lately and many new changes will be noted. Many of the contestants probably turned in nearly all their reserve vote to keep near the top. It's a good idea to poll enough votes to keep some where near the top for then you catch a great deal of the scattering vote. A great many people have no personal friends in the contest and they usually vote for someone in their neighborhood or someone of whom they have heard friends speak. Every day people come into the office or mail their subscriptions and vote that way.

A Few Suggestions.

Now for a few suggestions as to your plan of campaign. Never neglect to see anyone personally. If you have reason to believe that they have not already pledged their votes, sometimes the prospects which appear the most improbable plan out the best.

When you have your prospect secured get him or her to put you on the track of another or more unpledged prospects. The result will be that your votes will accumulate more and more daily and increase in volume, like a snowball rolling down hill.

Again, don't be afraid to advertise the fact that you are a candidate, here, there and everywhere throughout the length and breadth of this part of Kentucky. Tell everybody you meet the glad tidings and impress upon them the fact that you are in the race for one reason only that is to win. You will be surprised how the magnetism of your enthusiasm will persuade others. Even the most callous cannot fail to accord a certain amount of admiration to the plucky competitor. After you have left, it is quite as likely as not that the recipient of your most recent heart to heart talk will tell his friends something like this:

"Friends, I you haven't promised your votes to anyone yet, I've got a friend who deserves to win so give her the votes." That's the sort of an impression to leave behind. Again don't hesitate to ask for the biggest subscription at the outset.

Notice.

The rule limiting the length of new subscriptions secured inside of Lawrence county to two years has been changed to five years. If you secured a person's subscription earlier in the contest and can now get him to increase it, we will give you the difference in votes. For instance if he paid a one year new subscription before and you can now get him to pay four dollars more, making a five year subscription in all, we will give you the difference in votes. The Big Sandy News will be sent anywhere in the United States for one dollar a year.

Best Offer of the Contest.

Following is the schedule of votes on both old and new subscriptions turned in between Feb. 28th and March 13th:

New Subscriptions.

10 years.....	261,200 votes.
8 years.....	216,000 votes.
5 years.....	124,800 votes.
2 years.....	63,600 votes.
1 year.....	13,600 votes.

Old Subscriptions.

10 years.....	100,800 votes.
8 years.....	77,600 votes.
5 years.....	48,400 votes.
3 years.....	24,600 votes.
2 years.....	14,400 votes.
1 year.....	4,800 votes.

In addition to the above votes, 3,000 extra votes will be given on every new subscription turned in before March 6th.

HOW THEY STAND TO-DAY.

Following is the standing of the contestants up to last Wednesday night. Votes must be put in the ballot box before 6:00 p. m. Wednesday to be counted in the issue of that week. All votes coming in after that time will be published in the following week's issue. Votes must be placed in envelopes and the contestant's name and the number of votes in each envelope marked on

CONGRESS PASSES A GOOD LAW.

HERE IS THE MUCH DISCUSSED WEBB BILL.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The following is a copy of the Webb Liquor Bill, which recently was passed by both the House of Representatives and the Senate. The bill divests liquor of its interstate character where the laws of the State prohibit the sale of intoxicants.

The measure is now up to President Taft for signature, and he is carefully considering it from a constitutional point of view. The bill reads as follows:

"A bill divesting intoxicating liquors of their interstate character in certain cases.

"Be it enacted, that the shipment or transportation in any manner or by any means whatsoever of any spirituous, vinous, malted, fermented, or other intoxicating liquor of any kind from one State, Territory or district of the United States or place noncontiguous to but subject to the jurisdiction thereof into any other State, Territory or district of the United States, or place noncontiguous to but subject to the jurisdiction thereof, or from any foreign country into any State, Territory, or district of the United States, or place noncontiguous to but subject to the jurisdiction thereof, which said spirituous, vinous, malted, fermented or other intoxicating liquor is intended by any person interested therein to be received, possessed, sold or in any manner used either in the original package or otherwise in violation of any law of such State, Territory, or district of the United States or place noncontiguous to but subject to the jurisdiction thereof, is hereby prohibited."

CASH FOR KENTUCKY SCHOOLS.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Beginning July 1 a monthly appropriation of $100 will be made by the Department of Agriculture to the Hindman settlement school, at Hindman, Ky., for instructions in intensive farming.

LAST CALL ON Our FUR STOCKS

Saturday night will end the special prices now in force on furs. Each piece we offer was this seasons purchase and the styles will be good for next season. We can still offer many values that will be worthy of special notice and the finish and texture of our furs commend them to purchasers who are particular for quality and appearance.

Permit us to call your attention to several advances in the markets on furs which have been brought out since the purchase of our fur stocks which in the aggregate will amount to at least 25 per cent and possibly more for the same quality of furs that we offer. In view of this fact we consider it a conservative statement that the purchase of these furs at their reduced selling prices now will mean a saving to you of at least one half what would have to be paid for the same kind of furs at the beginning of the season next fall.

We urge purchases this week and as early in the week as possible in order to insure the best possible selections. The present prices will probably never be duplicated again as good furs are becoming scarcer with each season and the demand heavier every year which has a certain tendency to raise prices all along the line.

Free Delivery of Mail Order Purchases

Please bear in mind our generous offer to deliver free all mail order purchases with the exception of very bulky articles and domestics and in addition to this we insure delivery of all packages in value from $2.50 up. By taking advantage of the parcels post provisions you can shop with just as much satisfaction at our store as if you lived right in the city.

Jefferson County's Bad Court.

The following is an editorial from the Courier Journal:

1. As W. Page, director of the office of Good Roads in the Federal Department of Agriculture, calls attention to the fact that unless adequate provision is made for maintaining good roads after they are built the money put into their construction is largely wasted. "Systematic and continuous maintenance," he says, is necessary if a system of good roads is to result.

Residents of Jefferson county witness whenever they use the country roads the folly of expenditure for construction that is not followed up by expenditure for upkeep.

The French, who are a remarkably thrifty people, have about $600,000,000 invested in road construction, and a fund of 3 per cent of the cost of construction annually is set aside for upkeep. The $18,000,000 that the French spend every year to keep their roads in condition saves the destruction of $600,000,000 worth of public property. It also improves the road from year to year. The macadam road that is carefully kept up has a growing value as surely as the road that is neglected depreciates. The French roads are subdivided into sections for purposes of maintenance, and whenever and wherever repairs are needed they are made.

There is no real system of road repairing in any county in the State—even Jefferson with its large property values and heavy expenditures for roads. A road is constructed, usually without much regard to drainage, and turned over to traffic and the elements for destruction. The contractors rebuild it when it becomes impassable. The taxpayers foot the bills. The system is wasteful as a builder and maintainer of roads, but systematic as a distributor of patronage and a divider of profits.

This unthrifty costs States millions and the United States, with many times the area of France, pays billions in one way and another, including expenses of hauling over bad roads, and damage to passenger vehicles.—Courier-Journal.
